

Karpowership inaugurates the renovated “Les Petits Anges de Dieu” orphanage in Akanda

Libreville, 10 April 2026 – As part of its corporate social responsibility initiatives, Karpowership inaugurated the “Les Petits Anges de Dieu” orphanage located in Amissa, in the municipality of Akanda, following renovation works carried out in the presence of local authorities.

This initiative reflects the company’s ongoing commitment to strengthening social infrastructure and supporting the development of the communities in which it operates. Through this project, Karpowership contributed to the modernization of the center, improving both living conditions and existing facilities.

Improved and safer living spaces

The renovation included the complete refurbishment of living areas, providing a more functional, safe, and suitable environment for the children’s daily life. The center accommodates 26 children aged between 4 and 18, and now benefits from upgraded facilities that better support both residents and staff.

Thanks to these improvements, the center now offers enhanced living and operational conditions for both residents and caregivers.

During the handover ceremony, Karpowership Regional Director Cagdas Sevik highlighted the importance of the project:

“This project reflects our commitment to making a tangible contribution to social development in Gabon. Through such initiatives, we aim to improve children’s living conditions and support their future.”

Through this initiative, Karpowership reaffirms its commitment to corporate social responsibility and its willingness to actively contribute to the country’s sustainable development, in close collaboration with local partners and authorities.
